With sunny skies prevailing Tuesday and Wednesday, operators in the Boyd Chapel and Neinda communities are getting work back "on the beam" and oil activity in the Hamlin sector is scheduled to pick up sharpply for the next 60 days.

In Jones and other West Texas counties bad weather has greatly slowed down field operations and delayed expected completions.

HighwayJob Be Let Soon

Final Condemnation Proceedings for Right-of-Way Being Completed For Vital Stretch of Road

Condemnation finals for remainder of the Hamlin-Sylvester highway right-of-way are underway this week, and actual letting of contract for the roadway will probably be let in February, The Herald was informed first of the week.

The Hemlin-McCaulley-Sylvester highway project has been one of the most vital State Highway Department proposals for this area.

One of the main arteries of traffic for Hamlin area people, this road provides a mighty fine and big trade zone for Hamlin, and has been on the highway department's "top" list for some time. Most of the rightof-way was secured several months ago, but a few hitches were encountered that hindered completion of the legal procedure.

It is understood that the project comes up for letting in February.

The route, as surveyed, goes from Hamlin to the overpass at McCaulley (over the Santa Fe Railway) and then to Sylvester.

Hamlin to Sylvester totals 17 miles, and with a two-mile spur that will be built to the Celotex Gyp Mill this immediate area will get 19 miles of grading and drainage structures, flexible base and asphalt topping.

Coming this way from McCaulley, the Hamlin road, as motorists well recall, will jog north to the Santa Fe Railroad, then east, and then north again.

The State Highway Department contract calls for straightening of such jogs. It is paved a short distance southwest of Hamlin as a

A. J. HALLMARK SR. DIES HERE MONDAY

A. J. Hallmark Sr., 74-year-old Hamfin citizen, succumbed Monday following a long illness.

Born March 27, 1872 in Alabama, Mr. Hallmark was married to Florence Wallace in 1901, and came to Hunt County, Texas, the same year. They moved to near Hamlin in 1923.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, 3:30 o'clock, at the Hamlin Church of Christ. Bro. Mardell Lynch, minister, officiated.

Pallbearers were J. R. Elliott, A. G. Miller, Art Carmichael, Bob Tegart, H. A. Preston and W. L. Fletcher.

Mr. Hallmark is survived by three daughters, Mrs. L. V. Miller and Mrs. Lola Brown of Hamlin and Mrs. Norman Lowrance of Eastland; four sons, W. H. Hallmark, Odis Hallmark, Skeet Hallmark and A. J. Hallmark, all of Hamlin; and 11 grandchildren.

Lawrence Funeral Home directed arrangements, and Mr. Hallmark was laid to rest in East Cemetery.

"HOW TO SAVE MONEY ON YOUR ELECTRIC BILL"

Phineas Q. Twitch, Eminent Economist

Disconnect your electric door-bell. What if your friends and neighbors do bruise their knuckles knocking! You'll save a penny a month. Naturally, a penny saved is a penny earned. In only eleven years (at compound interest) you'll earn enough to buy another door-bell for the back door so you can save TWICE as much by not using it!

Sell your vacuum cleaner and beat your rugs by hand. The money you get for your old machine will buy several sturdy beaters and an ample supply of liniment. Then, every time you beat ten large rugs, you'll save a whole penny.

You can easily do ten rugs in a couple of days, after you get used to it. The exercise will build you up, even if it does break down the rugs. And the more you beat 'em the more you save!

Turn off your radio during "The Electric Hour" on Sunday afternoon. Of course, you'll miss Nelson Eddy and his guest stars and Robert Armbruster's Orchestra, but you'll save a sixth of a penny every time you do it. In a year, that's nearly 9c. And there's no music so pleasant as those coppers clinking in your pocket!

On Cooperative Farming

Good news for farmer sponsored cooperative movements here and elsewhere is contained this week in revelaion that Clinton Anderson, secretary of agriculture, will push the policy of coops among farmers.

Those who look wisely into the future foresee the time not far distant when the family size farm, if it is to survive, must borrow some of the business methods used by oprators of industrialized plantations.

Cooperative buying, selling, banking and electrifying has, as we all preceding years. know, received some pretty serious set-backs in days now behind us because management and capital were usually lacking in sufficient volume. A significant trend can be noted in the fact that approximately half of the country's farmers are already members of some kind of a cooperative duction of cotton, sorghum for grain as it is now. organization.

Really Hustling For Surplus Goods

Although a lot of surplus government property now for sale will not be useful in Hamlin's trade area, some will find its way to farm and ranch, and surplus jeeps, dirt-moving tractors and surplus supplies of wire will be in good demand when they are obtainable.

This reminds The Herald of the Sunflower Ordnance Works at DeSoto, Kansas, when surplus government property is mentioned. The following mated at $233,000,000, was about occurred only once before in the last and unusual message was recently received by the plant: "Dear Sirs: I hear you-all are looking to sell government surplus in 1944. funds. I calculate I could use some of them funds. Please send information for bidding on same."

Some of the Why for Strikes

With industrial paralysis putting its octopus-like tenacles in most of our forging furnaces, meat curing rooms and car production lines, evidence piles up plenty strong that labor and management behind the scenes have teamed up to break the back of OPA by forcing an abandonment of of $87,000,000 for the 1944 crop price ceilings.

Price ceilings, as established by the OPA, offer our last-ditch defense against inflation and a resultant economic ruin, and every person now on strike knows in his heart that only OPA kept him through the war years by Saturday .- C. C. Renfro. from having to pay four to five prices for groceries, clothes and other essential commodities, and salary lost through the days of striking will never be replaced.

Without the restraining hand of price ceilings, we would witness a boom that temporarily would swallow up people's pocketbooks and later make money so cheap in buying power that we would have a disaster not even 10 ever normal granaries and 400 Washington economic experts could overcome.

Clothing for Naked Bodies

Hamlin's Victory Clothing Collection campaign, ably sponsored by the Lions Club, has indeed become this week one of this area's outstanding humanitarian drives-one that has gotten plenty close to home and is providing a mighty fine response for people in all walks of life.

Not only can donors contribute to an exceptionally worthy cause by cleaning their attics, trunks and clothes closets of garments not being used now, but by such gifts of mercy can avoid having to read later of war refugees dying by the dozens because their naked bodies proved an inadequate defense to the ravages of winter.

In the war refugee area overseas it is tragic to note that new-born babies are being wrapped in newspapers and rough burlap because no clothes can even be stolen from any source. The parents have no rags to spare for the children. The sick are without bed clothes. And already death has poked its cold, clammy finger into village after village because exposure brought on pneumonia and fatal complications.

Out of our rich abundance, blessed materially and spiritually as no other nation on earth, we can save, through this drive, thousands of precious lives and bring a touch of godliness to even the most destitute victims of bombs and mortar shells and robot bombs.

What Contemporaries Are Saying

SPEED OF SCIENCE

When it was announced many year's ago that a locomtive had been built to attain a speed of thirty miles an hour, a prominent health authority cried out against the devilish contraption and stated as a scientist in his field that the adoption of any such terrific speed as a means of public conveyance would wreck the health of the nation. Now it is announced that the Navy has perfected a jet-propelled carrier plane with a speed of 500 miles an hour and a ceiling of well over seven miles above the earth. Five hundred miles na hour is eight and one-third miles a minutes, or approximately 730 feet a second. The velocity of an ordinary rifle bullet is only about three times as great. What wouldn't the good doctor have

But, if we plot a graph of the increasing speeds of transportation, the interesting thing about it is the sharp upward acceleration of recent years. We have discovered first one means of power propulsion and then another. The real significance in jet propulsion is, not that we have reached another new high point of velocity, but that we have discovered another means of propulsion which transports us into a nentirely new plane of experimentation and progress.

Jet propulsion of the man-controlled plane is now limited more by the ability of man to control than by the power of the jet combustion. The German V-2 rocket bomb, for eample, attained a speed of not eight, but approximately 50, miles a minute. This was considerably faster than the speed of the ordinary rifle bullet-faster than the speed of sound. It attained an altitude of something like 70 miles above the surface of the earth. Seemingly, we have just begun to move along the surface of the earth—just begun to climb into the sky above it. The point is that, in all of our scientific thinking and in all of our planning based upon scientific progress, we must figure, not upon what we have achieved to date, but upon what we very probably will achieve in the near future .-The Dallas Morning News.

The BAE cautions, however, that these farm value computations, based upon estimates of production and season average prices, should not be confused with cash income figures which represent returns from only that portion of the crop which is

THE NEWNESS OF CHRISTIANITY

The Christian religion is new in that it alone teaches humility as the road to true greatness. Christ says: "He that is greatest among you shall be your servant." From that time on the greatest of earth have been the greatest servants. "He that shall humble himself shall be exalted."

The Christian religion is original in that it is positive. Othr philosophies and religions were negative. Jesus said thou shaltthey said thou shalt not. He, while restraining wrong, taught active goodness. He says, "Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down and cast into the fire." Man must bear fruit. "By their fruits ye shall know them." By restraining all that is evil or sinful in man he could not be made positively good. He must do good in order to be good. Like a fruitless tree, a man may be negatively good in society, or selfishly exclude himself from it-yet he, according to Christ, is only fit for the ax and the fire. Instead of the injunction, "Oppress not the widow and the fatherless," the command is to "visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction." While benefitting others, no one will wrong them. While blessing, they can not curse. Do unto others as you would have them do unto you banishes all moral wrong as light banishes darkness. And Jesus says, "Let your light shine."

All the lessons taught by Jesus in His parables are positive. The miracles of Jesus were all characterized by positive good. On earth He "went about doing good, and in the final judgment He says, "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these my brethren, even these least, ye did it unto me (Matthew 25:40).

Christianity goes beyond all preceding law and religion in that its author makes the intent to commit sin a crime and lust a sin (Matthew 5:21-28) and in that He teaches "peace on earth good will among men in whom God is well pleased." Christianity is the only religion that has a Gethsemane and a Calvary on the road to life, and that embraces the entire duty and destiny of

CULTIVATION AIDS GROWTH OF GRASS FOR STOCK GRAZING

Cultivation of pastures, land owners of the Hamlin area are advised shows promise of increasing the production of forage from solid stands of Bermuda and native bunch grass in established pastures and meadows.

So reports the Jones County agricultural agent, who says experiments underway since the spring of 1941 at the U.S. Department of Agriculture Experiment Station at Guthrie, Oklahoma, where grass sod was disced lightly every other year in March caused an increase of 26 per cent in the yield of Bermuda grass. The same treatment resulted in an increase of six per cent in yields from native bunch grass.

All tests, Hamlin area land owners will be interested to note, were made on thin or poor stands of grass. It was found that Bermuda would respond to heavier discing than the common native grasses. Tillage seemed to prevent the grasses from dying in the center of clumps and increased the decay of plant residue.

Completions in Boyd Chapel, Neinda And Other Area Fields Loom as Better Weather Expected

With sunny skies prevailing Tuesday and Wednesday, operators in the Boyd Chapel and Neinda communities are getting work back "on the beam" and oil activity in the Hamlin sector is scheduled to pick up sharpply for the next 60 days.

In Jones and other West Texas counties bad weather has greatly slowed down field operations and delayed expected completions.

In the East Wimberley Field, Hendrick Oil Company has filed appli cation for the No. 4-B Sarah T Morrison, a 2,500-foot cable too test 1,300 feet from the west and 1,040 feet from the north line of the west 320.9 acres of the south half of G. Martinez Survey.

Six miles south of Leuders, Jones & Stasney et al have started drilling on the No. 1 Mary A. Martin, a 2,000-foot cable tool offset to production, 1,150 feet from the west and 2,681 feet from the north line of Section 1, J. Weihl Survey.

Hamlin operators are intensely interested in upper zone testing on the Rhodes Drilling Company et al his membership here. No. 2 Swan, 12 miles northwest of Merkel. Bad weather has slowed down operations and prevented the moving of the rotary rig so that cleaning machine could be installed.

Test, it is understood, is to be through perforations at 2,800 feet.

It is reported that Crown Central Petroleum Corporation has abandoned its No. 1 A. A. Hayden in the shinnery area at 2,570 feet after drilling through the Swastika into Fishing job was still underway this week one and one-half miles northwest of Nugent, the Oscar Donley of Fort North No. 1 J. M. Higgs. Operators were fishing at 2,174 feet. Original contract on the well was to 2,150 feet, but had a reschedule to 2,300 feet.

Final Condemnation Proceedings for Right-of-Way Being Completed For Vital Stretch of Road

Condemnation finals for remainder of the Hamlin-Sylvester highway right-of-way are underway this week, and actual letting of contract for the roadway will probably be let in February, The Herald was informed first of the week.

The Hemlin-McCaulley-Sylvester highway project has been one of the most vital State Highway Department proposals for this area.

One of the main arteries of traffic for Hamlin area people, this road provides a mighty fine and big trade zone for Hamlin, and has been on the highway department's "top" list for some time. Most of the rightof-way was secured several months ago, but a few hitches were encountered that hindered completion of the legal procedure.

It is understood that the project comes up for letting in February.

The route, as surveyed, goes from Hamlin to the overpass at McCaulley (over the Santa Fe Railway) and then to Sylvester.

Hamlin to Sylvester totals 17 miles, and with a two-mile spur that will be built to the Celotex Gyp Mill this immediate area will get 19 miles of grading and drainage structures, flexible base and asphalt topping.

Coming this way from McCaulley, the Hamlin road, as motorists well recall, will jog north to the Santa Fe Railroad, then east, and then north again.

The State Highway Department contract calls for straightening of such jogs. It is paved a short distance southwest of Hamlin as a

"HOW TO SAVE MONEY ON YOUR ELECTRIC BILL"

Dr. Twitch

Disconnect your electric door-bell. What if your friends and neighbors do bruise their knuckles knocking! You'll save a penny a month. Naturally, a penny saved is a penny earned. In only eleven years (at compound interest) you'll earn enough to buy another door-bell for the back door so you can save TWICE as much by not using it!

Sell your vacuum cleaner and beat your rugs by hand. The money you get for your old machine will buy several sturdy beaters and an ample supply of liniment. Then, every time you beat ten large rugs, you'll save a whole penny.

You can easily do ten rugs in a couple of days, after you get used to it. The exercise will build you up, even if it does break down the rugs. And the more you beat 'em the more you save!

Turn off your radio during "The Electric Hour" on Sunday afternoon. Of course, you'll miss Nelson Eddy and his guest stars and Robert Armbruster's Orchestra, but you'll save a sixth of a penny every time you do it. In a year, that's nearly 9c. And there's no music so pleasant as those coppers clinking in your pocket!

On Cooperative Farming

Good news for farmer sponsored cooperative movements here and elsewhere is contained this week in revelaion that Clinton Anderson, secretary of agriculture, will push the policy of coops among farmers.

Those who look wisely into the future foresee the time not far distant when the family size farm, if it is to survive, must borrow some of the business methods used by oprators of industrialized plantations.

Cooperative buying, selling, banking and electrifying has, as we all know, received some pretty serious set-backs in days now behind us because management and capital were usually lacking in sufficient volume. A significant trend can be noted in the fact that approximately half of the country's farmers are already members of some kind of a cooperative organization.

Really Hustling For Surplus Goods

Although a lot of surplus government property now for sale will not be useful in Hamlin's trade area, some will find its way to farm and ghum for grain shrank under similar flinty boned old critters." ranch, and surplus jeeps, dirt-moving tractors and surplus supplies of conditions. wire will be in good demand when they are obtainable.

This reminds The Herald of the Sunflower Ordnance Works at DeSoto, Kansas, when surplus government property is mentioned. The following mated at $233,000,000, was about and unusual message was recently received by the plant:

"Dear Sirs: I hear you-all are looking to sell government surplus in 1944. funds. I calculate I could use some of them funds. Please send information for bidding on same."

Some of the Why for Strikes

With industrial paralysis putting its octopus-like tenacles in most of our forging furnaces, meat curing rooms and car production lines, evidence piles up plenty strong that labor and management behind the scenes have teamed up to break the back of OPA by forcing an abandonment of

Price ceilings, as established by the OPA, offer our last-ditch defense against inflation and a resultant economic ruin, and every person now on strike knows in his heart that only OPA kept him through the war years from having to pay four to five prices for groceries, clothes and other ssential commodities, and salary lost through the days of striking will never be replaced.

Without the restraining hand of price ceilings, we would witness a boom that temporarily would swallow up people's pocketbooks and later make money so cheap in buying power that we would have a disaster not even 10 ever normal granaries and 400 Washington economic experts could overcome.

Clothing for Naked Bodies

Hamlin's Victory Clothing Collection campaign, ably sponsored by the Lions Club, has indeed become this week one of this area's outstanding humanitarian drives one that has gotten plenty close to home and is providing a mighty fine response for people in all walks of life.

Not only can donors contribute to an exceptionally worthy cause by cleaning their attics, trunks and clothes closets of garments not being used now, but by such gifts of mercy can avoid having to read later of war refugees dying by the dozens because their naked bodies proved an inadequate defense to the ravages of winter.

In the war refugee area overseas it is tragic to note that new-born babies are being wrapped in newspapers and rough burlap because no clothes can even be stolen from any source. The parents have no rags to spare for the children. The sick are without bed clothes. And already death has poked its cold, clammy finger into village after village because exposure brought on pneumonia and fatal complications.

Out of our rich abundance, blessed materially and spiritually as no other nation on earth, we can save, through this drive, thousands of precious lives and bring a touch of godliness to even the most destitute victims of bombs and mortar shells and robot bombs.

What Contemporaries Are Saying

SPEED OF SCIENCE

When it was announced many year's ago that a locomtive had been built to attain a speed of thirty miles an hour, a prominent health authority cried out against the devilish contraption and stated as a scientist in his field that the adoption of any such terrific speed as a means of public conveyance would wreck the health of the nation. Now it is announced that the Navy has perfected a jet-propelled carrier plane with a speed of 500 miles an hour and a ceiling of well over seven miles above the earth. Five hundred miles na hour is eight and one-third miles a minutes, or approximately 730 feet a second. The velocity of an ordinary rifle bullet is only about three times as great. What wouldn't the good doctor have said?

But, if we plot a graph of the increasing speeds of transportation, the interesting thing about it is the sharp upward acceleration of recent years. We have discovered first one means of power propulsion and then another. The real significance in jet propulsion is, not that we have reached another new high point of velocity, but that we have discovered another means of propulsion which transports us into a nentirely new plane of experimentation and progress.

Jet propulsion of the man-controlled plane is now limited more by the ability of man to control than by the power of the jet combustion. The German V-2 rocket bomb, for eample, attained a speed of not eight, but approximately 50, miles a minute. This was considerably faster than the speed of the ordinary rifle bullet-faster than the speed of sound. It attained an altitude of something like 70 miles above the surface of the earth. Seemingly, we have just begun to move along the surface of the earth-just begun to climb into the sky above it. The point is that, in all of our scientific thinking and in all of our planning based upon scientific progress, we must figure, not upon what we have achieved to date, but upon what we very probably will achieve in the near future .-The Dallas Morning News.

THE NEWNESS OF CHRISTIANITY

The Christian religion is new in that it alone teaches humility as the road to true greatness. Christ says: "He that is greatest among you shall be your servant." From that time on the greatest of earth have been the greatest servants. "He that shall humble himself shall be exalted."

The Christian religion is original in that it is positive. Othr philosophies and religions were negative. Jesus said thou shaltthey said thou shalt not. He, while restraining wrong, taught active goodness. He says, "Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down and cast into the fire." Man must bear fruit. "By their fruits ye shall know them." By restraining all that is evil or sinful in man he could not be made positively good. He must do good in order to be good. Like a fruitless tree, a man may be negatively good in society, or selfishly exclude himself from it-yet he, according to Christ, is only fit for the ax and the fire. Instead of the injunction, "Oppress not the widow and the fatherless," the command is to "visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction." While benefitting others, no one will wrong them. While blessing, they can not curse. Do unto others as you would have them do unto you banishes all moral wrong as light banishes darkness. And Jesus says, "Let your

All the lessons taught by Jesus in His parables are positive. The miracles of Jesus were all characterized by positive good. On earth He "went about doing good, and in the final judgment He says, "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these my brethren, even these least, ye did it unto me (Matthew 25:40).

Christianity goes beyond all preceding law and religion in that its author makes the intent to commit sin a crime and lust a sin (Matthew 5:21-28) and in that He teaches "peace on earth good will among men in whom God is well pleased." Christianity is the only religion that has a Gethsemane and a Calvary on the road to life, and that embraces the entire duty and destiny of

So reports the Jones County agricultural agent, who says experiments underway since the spring of 1941 at the U.S. Department of Agriculture Experiment Station at Guthrie, Oklahoma, where grass sod was disccaused an increase of 26 per cent in the yield of Bermuda grass. The same treatment resulted in an increase of six per cent in yields from native bunch grass.

All tests, Hamlin area land owners will be interested to note, were made on thin or poor stands of grass. It was found that Bermuda would respond to heavier discing than the common native grasses. Tillage seemed to prevent the grasses from dying in the center of clumps and increased the decay of plant residue.
